Embassy has consistently urged strong anti-Communist measures on Peruvian Government and will continue do so. I consider however that specific approach now along lines Department circular telegram 827 would use Embassy's limited negotiating capacity in area where no significant gain can now be expected. Junta's record of stalling over issue of Peruvian forces commitment to joint quarantine action, repeatedly raised with Junta members and Peruvian armed forces commanders by me and Attachés, is especially revealing in this connection.

Embassy perceives no indication Cuban crisis has given Junta impetus take forceful action against Castro-Communist subversion. Junta antipathy toward APRA and its desire retain support leftist extremists are more important considerations for Junta which has consistently evinced more concern over Aprista than Castro-Communist activities, (See A-293 October 24) and has tacitly accepted support latter as weapon reduce influence former, particularly in labor sector.

On positive side however there are several indications, especially since resignation Minister Government Bosisio, that Junta would take limited action against Castro-Communist subversion in particular instances. After consistently denying presence Communist guerrillas Cuzco area Junta now taking steps establish adequate police control and at same time has announced agrarian reform program to be undertaken that area. Furthermore on October 30 Junta ordered reorganization La Campana naval school because of sudden recognition by them of Communist infiltration

Department circular telegrams 827 and 828

Embassy has consistently urged strong anti-Communist measures on Peruvian Government and will continue to do so. I consider however that specific approach now along lines Department circular telegram 827 would use Embassy's limited negotiating capacity in area where no significant gain can now be expected. Junta's record of stalling over issue of Peruvian forces commitment to joint quarantine action, repeatedly raised with Junta members of Peruvian armed forces commanders by me and Attachés, is especially revealing in this connection.

Embassy perceives no indication Cuban crisis has given Junta impetus take forceful action against Castro-Communist subversion. Junta sympathy toward ARPA and its desire retain support leftist extremists are more important considerations for Junta which has consistently evinced more concern over Aprista than Castro-Communist activities (See A-293 October 24) and has tacitly accepted support latter as weapon reduce influence former, particularly in labor sector.

On positive side however there are several indications especially since resignation Minister Government Bossio, that Junta would take limited action against Castro-Communist subversion in particular circumstances. After consistently denying presence Communist guerrillas Guzco area Junta now taking steps establish adequate police control and at same time has announced Agrarian reform program to undertaken that area. Furthermore, on October 30 Junta ordered reorganization La Cantata normal school because of sudden recognition by them of Communist infiltration

(fact which had been notorious public knowledge for several years). Moreover since Cuban crisis Castro-Communists have for first time found occasion voice serious criticism of Junta, characterizing Peru's support for OAS resolution as evidence "subservience to U.S."

Embassy will continue to watch developing situation particularly with respect possibility internal stresses and strains within Junta and armed forces over policies toward Castro-Communist subversion and will take advantage possibilities afforded to urge stronger action or at least discontinuance aid and comfort at present being given leftist extremists masquerading as anti-Apristas.
